

MA I ATTRACTIVE?

Issue -1: Volume 0

Sidebar

"An Ugly Face" huge box-office flop

Did you know that if everyone tithed 10% we could all have churches with pools, weight rooms, and high definition big screen TV's?

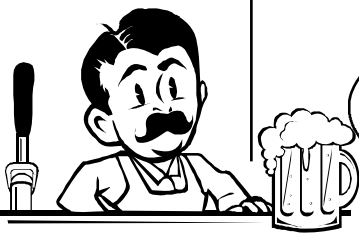

Wheaton girls retract statement, "we wish more guys would ask us out"

When we said we wanted more guys to ask us out, we meant it. What we didn't mean is for more ugly scrub-life kids bugging us Friday night and trying to weasel their way into our lives. In the interest of political correctness we had to say that we wanted more guys to ask us out. But what we really meant was that we want more attractive guys to ask us out. You see, we have always been sick of getting chased by the riff-raff. So if you're a Wheaton guy, look this issue of The Ugly Times in the mirror. If your answer to the secret question is yes, give us a ring!

Ugliness implicated in 85% of all cases of singleness

An apple a day might not keep the doctor away, but being ugly sure keeps the opposite sex away! A ground-breaking study conducted by the CDC (Center for Dating Conservation) in Williston found that the majority of people who wish to date are either homely or despicably ugly. It also showed us that these people find themselves getting turned down by the opposite sex more than the heat on a summer day. Because of a generalized optimism almost everyone at Wheaton thinks they'll end up dating someone twice as attractive as they are. For the ugly this equates to many nights in the dorm watching "7th Heaven" or "Married With Children". The general attitude can be summed up in the statement, "They say ugliness is next to godlessness but at least you're not forced to look at godlessness all the time!"

Foods offered if SAGA served even more variety...

- * Ass. Pie
- * Cream of Chitlin Soup
- * Beer Soaked Brats (hold the brats)
- * Food for Those With No Soul