

The Ugly Times

Issue -40: Volume -1

Sidebar

Hell a Touch Cooler
Than Expected

Rejection vaccine only working on pretty boys

Moral fiber causing diarrhea

...and all God's people said,
"not here"

If Wheaton worshiped the devil, our language would be different

- Well done! Scribble a star on her paper and put a circle around it while your at it
- Conjurefully consider giving us all of your money
- I would go out with you but Satan is calling me elsewhere
- That's really a fly in the goat's head soup
- A brother of ours is going through a hard time, please pray for daily retribution and ostracism in this situation.
- Just know in the midst of your struggles that everything in your life will work out for the maximum amount of suffering; just try to think of how toasty warm you'll be in that lake of fire.
- Humble yourself in the sight of the devil and we'll all laugh at you.
- Pray the prayer of Beelzebub and you'll get TWO pitchforks.

Wheaton Administration to Say "no" to Rejection

The Wheaton College Alumni Association recently discovered a link between the absolute-zero Wheaton dating scene and declining donations. One PR person stated, "When people don't have romantic experiences at Wheaton, they are less likely to have a positive impression of the college. They are less likely to marry here, less likely to send their kids here, and less likely to support the us financially in the future."

The Community Covenant and Beamer Center were just two of the many initiatives of the college's new 100-year plan known as the "No Century Challenge". This unique name comes from that fact that it will probably take a century to thaw the frigid dating scene here. We are thinking of offering one hour of academic credit for every semester you are dating someone. Next year the counseling center will be bringing on two Rejectionologists to prescribe rejection-coping designer drugs and perform a kind of Séance to try to get that final flicker out of all those dead relationships.

Dirty Looks Ineffective Evangelism Tool

Today, the Council of Trent Reznor announced that after years and millions in taxpayer-supported research, it has determined that looking at church parishioners like they are canine tends to cause them to leave. Bill Habilis, a well-respected church leader stated, "We are like any other business. Our per-seat operating costs are high. It is a causes for concern when people start filling the seats who don't have the appearance that suggests they'll support our bottom line. We only require faith the size of a mustard seed but you'd better have a wallet fatter than that king Ehud knocked off".